

3. TRUOI DAI SCLOPS

EXCURSIONS

Natural Park of the Friulian Dolomites

This spectacular route summarizes many of the most interesting features of the Friulian Dolomites: from the vertical walls of the Pramaggiore and Monfalconi di Forni groups to the quiet alpine meadows, from the valley forest vegetation, to rare and endemic high-altitude flowers, from encounters with ibexes and chamois up to the human signs left on these mountains.

After crossing the bridge over the river Tagliamento in Forni di Sopra, park your car in the Davost area (900 m above sea level) and continue on foot along the forest track (follow the indications for the hut Flaiban-Pacherini) up to the path of Val di Suola (CAI 362) that leads to the hut rebuilt and extended in 2007 (1587 m above sea level). From here you can continue on the path CAI 362 that crosses Passo del Mus (2063 m asl), descends a few meters on the south side and then it connects to the trail CAI 369; or, left the path CAI 362, you can choose the one that leads to the Palon Sole and takes you directly to the saddle of Fantulina Alta where it joins the path CAI 362 to get to the saddle Forcella dell'Inferno (2175 m above sea level). In both cases this is the most difficult part of the route but that is often rewarded with the sighting of ibexes, chamois and ptarmigans who normally attend these steep slopes. From this saddle, you go down firstly in Val di Brica, then you cross the same name mountain pass (2088 m above sea level) to finally descend in the picturesque meadows of Canpuros where there is a spring source and an old bivouac made of trunks. The descent continues along a valley between mountain pinces and sparse larches until a crossroads that allows a stop at the near Casera Valbinon (1778 m above sea level) and to which go back to travel the panoramic crossing on the Val Cimoliana through thick mountain pines up to the mountain pass Urtisièl (1990 m above sea level). From the saddle the trail descends along a first scree slope, then bends to the left, overcomes a ridge and then descends again to the hut Giau (1400 m above sea level). After a well-deserved break at the hut both the trail CAI 346 and the forest track allow an easy return to Forni di Sopra.

Mountain pass

Upper Valbinon

Upper Valbinon

Valbinon hut

Mus di Brica

PATH TAB

|                                 |                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Municipality             | Forni di Sopra (UD)                                                                                                                          |
| Starting point           | parking Davost, Forni di Sopra (900 m)                                                                                                       |
| Arrival point            | parking Davost, Forni di Sopra (900 m)                                                                                                       |
| Recommended period       | from June to September                                                                                                                       |
| Approximate walking time | 8 hours                                                                                                                                      |
| Peculiarities            | geological (dolomite boulders)botanical (scree, cliff, meadows vegetation, endemic flora)ethnographic (evidence of ancient pastures) |
| Points of interest       | Mus di Brica (isolated tower), Canpuros meadows                                                                                              |
| Segnavia                 | CAI 362 e 369 e 361 e 342 e 346                                                                                                              |
| Cartography              | Map Edizioni Tabacco Natural Park Friulian Dolomites; And Edizioni Tabacco #02                                                               |
| Support points           | Alpine huts of Flaiban-Pacherini, Valbinon, Giaf                                                                                             |

PATH ELEVATION AND CAI DIRECTIONS

Fantulina peaks

Valbinon Hut

Chamois

PATH MAP

